

Please - do NOT allow phone use on air flights. I've been traveling over 20 years, and the air travel "experience" today ranks among the very worst in our lives. The very LAST thing we all need is another arrogant rude businessman, teenage Barbie, or lonely grandmother blabbing in-flight, while annoying and disturbing countless other passengers. If you think today's passengers are angry and cranky about air travel - cell phones on planes will prompt some very nasty disagreements, confrontations, and maybe worse. Today, airplanes are filthy, the air stinks, bathrooms are filthy, service is more often rude, security is absurd, seats are cheap and bad for human posture, and personnel are arrogant and difficult. The ONLY reason air flight is tolerable - is the "hope" that we will get some private quiet time away from the crush and rush of life. Please - don't destroy the only remaining feature of air travel: peace and quiet!!!!
